The Power to Nutritionally Manage Your Dog or Cat with

Food Intolerance

A food intolerance generally appears as gastrointestinal upset or intense itching or scratching. This can develop at any time — even after years of feeding without issues occurring. The culprit is usually a common protein source such as beef or dairy, but dogs and cats can become allergic to any such ingredient. Purina® Pro Plan Veterinary Diets™ HA Hydrolyzed® Canine and Feline Formulas are highly digestible and contain hydrolyzed protein. Hydrolyzed protein is protein that has been broken down into small components, which are less likely to cause a negative response in food-sensitive dogs and cats.
